Blessed Among Us Antoni Gaudi Architect (1852-1926)

In 1883 Antoni Gaudi, a young architect in Barcelona, was offered the task of designing and building the Church of the Holy Family, a project sponsored by a lay association and relying entirely on individual donations. Gaudi was, in some ways, a surprising choice. Though hailed as a creative genius, whose work combined an eclectic range of styles, he was also something of a dandy. Yet he took on the project with almost single minded dedication. The church became more and more ambitious. Incorporating inlaid ceramics, wrought iron, and original sculpture, it began to grow into an astonishing work of art—a reflection of the artist’s imagination but also, increasingly, a reflection of his growing faith.

As his church began to take shape, Gaudi grew closer to the One he called “the greatest master builder”. He adopted an ascetic life, dressing as a workman, fasting frequently, and attending daily Mass. While also designing many other buildings, Holy Family became his central work. In the last months of his life he slept on a cot in the church. On June 7, 1926, he was struck by a streetcar. Mistaken for a beggar, he was taken to the charity ward of the local hospital, where he died on June 10.

Though work on the Church of the Holy Family continues to this day, it has long been recognized as one of the world’s architectural treasures. In 1999 it was also named as a basilica. Its architect has been proposed as a candidate for canonization.

“Beauty is the image of truth.”—Antoni Gaudi

THE FEAST OF CORPUS CHRISTI

This feast is celebrated in the Latin Church after Trinity Sunday to solemnly commemorate the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Holy Thursday commemorates this great event, but tends to be overshadowed by the season of sadness. St. Juliana of Mont Cornillon in Belgium was instrumental in the Blessed Sacrament coming to have a special feast in its honor. She made her ideas known to Robert de Thorete, then Bishop of Liege who was favorably impressed. Bishops then had the right of ordering feasts for their dioceses and he called a synod in 1246 and ordered the celebration to be held in the following year and an Office would be written for the occasion. Pope Urban IV admired the feast and published a Papal Bull to extend the celebration to the entire world.

The Most Sacred Heart of Jesus

The prayer of the Church venerates and honors the Heart of Jesus just as it invokes his most holy name. It adores the incarnate Word and his Heart which, out of love for men, he allowed to be pierced by our sins. Christian prayer loves to follow the way of the cross in the Savior's steps. — From the Catechism. P: 2669
